Vice President Tam made a motion, seconded by Commissioner Eppler, to continue to meet remotely for the next 30 days.

The motion carried unanimously.

RESOLUTION NO. BIC 046-22

3. President's Opening Remarks.

Vice President Tam said he was looking forward to the agenda, in particular the Racial Equity Plan Update. He said growing up in Chinatown he experienced overt cultural clashes as well as less obvious but present racism, although not every day or with everyone. In fact, he did not see racism very often which made it more striking when those issues arose. This did not mean the Commission should not hit it straight forward or invest time and resources to address those core causes. Vice President Tam thanked the Department staff and fellow Commissioners for paying attention to those critical issues and said that he looked forward to getting started.

There was no public comment.

4. Director's Report.

a. Director's Update [Director O'Riordan]

Director O'Riordan announced the Department was creating a Small Business Inspector Ambassador Program to help small businesses with issues that occasionally come up before the issuance of a Certificate of Occupancy and with an understanding the time between build out and opening is a high stress period for new business owners due to payments of rent, debt, and workers along with a full stock. The Department wants to be sure to support small business owners in that particular time period, especially to resolve any outstanding issues quickly, whether the small business is having trouble scheduling an inspection or they do not understand how to address an outstanding Code requirement or needs clarification of what was needed to have permits signed off. At the end of May, two Building Inspectors would be assigned as the Ambassadors. In addition to their current duties, they would assist and troubleshoot any obstacles in getting a permit completed and receiving the Certificate of Occupancy. The Department believes the Ambassadors work would center around internal coordination and communicating with the applicants. They would interact directly with their colleagues and the applicant to untangle any knots, and would report to the Chief Building Inspector and Deputy Director for Inspection Services. Those Ambassadors would not conduct inspections outside of their districts and not supplant the District Inspectors review of the work, which would undermine the reforms that were put in place last year. An email and office phone line has been set up for the Ambassadors if the public wants to contact them directly. The Department believes this would be a valued and welcome addition to the customer support services. Also, the Department was involved with the Citywide Career Fair held on April 23, 2022 and staff made sure that anyone interested in working for the Department had the opportunity to speak with current employees, and gave out information that was actionable in hopes of being remembered. Deputy Director Neville Pereira lead the charge during the Career Fair as the Department was looking to fill positions in Permit Services, and the team was well represented across the Department from Inspection Services and Human Resources team all gave information regarding roles that would be available and provided tips to applying for jobs with the City and gave QR codes with links to City jobs. The Department received a lot of interest including a visit from Mayor Breed. The Department also held a Public Advisory Forum in late April 2022 which was attended by approximately 60 people. Katy Tang, Director of Small Business, gave an update on new small business services available in the Permit Center as well as the grants available to make accessible improvements related to the Accessible Business Entrance (ABE) Program. The Permit Center and San Francisco Public Utility Commission spoke and answered questions related to the Non-Potable Water Ordinance. The Department believes these forums were an opportunity for staff to hear from the community and improve services. The next Public Advisory Forum will be held on August 31, 2022.

There was no general public comment.

6. Discussion regarding DBI’s Racial Equity Plan – Goal #7 Boards and Commissions, and efforts to meet goals and deadlines.

Commissioner Alexander-Tut said she wanted to give some background on what the Racial Equity Plan was and described what was in the provided supporting documents, and what the Commissions commitments were. She said in July 2019 the Office of Racial Equity (ORE) was created by an Ordinance and adopted by the Board of Supervisors. The ORE is a division of the Human Rights Commission which is part of a City department. The ORE was legislated in response to address the history of structural and institutional racism in the City and County of San Francisco in dealing with services to the public and internal practices and systems. ORE has the authority to enact a Citywide equity framework and to direct departments to implement mandated racial equity plans, and to analyze disparate impacts of pending Ordinances as well as various other policies and reporting functions. The ORE required the City designate employees as Racial Equity Leaders, acting as a liaison to the Office, and requires the Department of Human Resources to prioritize Racial Equity in the City’s workforce recruitment programs. ORE can make budget recommendations if Racial Equity measures and metrics are not being met. As a Commission, the BIC has the authority to adopt the budget, but ORE has the authority to make recommendations to the Commission. Finally, the Racial Equity Plan (REP) was adopted at the end of 2020 and the Commission has made some progress. The REP was divided into sections based on whose Department was responsible, and section 7 is the section of the Commission. Some of the goals the Commission worked on were the Bylaws and Rules, as well as amended procedures with a Racial Equity lens. The BIC adopted its Racial Equity Resolution in 2021 and began reading the Land Acknowledgement at its meetings. The City has enacted the removal of citizenship as a requirement to sit on a Commission, and a resolution was passed to include Racial Equity in our actions as a Department. The BIC is in phase one of the REP which is looking internally, and in phase two the Commission would begin to look externally. Section 721 of the REP said to determine a regular and standardized protocol for accommodation requests centering around persons with disabilities, working people, and parents. Indicators would be diversity of the Boards and Commissions and implementation of inclusive protocols. Commissioner Alexander-Tut said she did not think the Commission was far from achieving those goals, but there could be some protocols that need review and could be more in line with the Commission’s goals. Another goal was to commit to ongoing equity training, which the Commissioners are required to do as well.

Vice President Tam applauded Commissioner Alexander-Tut and Commissioner Sommer on the work they had put into the Racial Equity Plan with the Land Acknowledgement, and bringing light to not only racial equity but gender equity. He also thanked the Department for being receptive and working on the Racial Equity Plan with the Commission and making positive traction.

Commissioner Sommer thanked Commissioner Alexander-Tut for the summary and said that she looked forward to the advancement of the plan. She also acknowledged that she called attention to section 7.2.1 which was to determine regular and standardized protocols for accommodation requests centering around people with disabilities, working persons, and parents. She welcomed any input and thought a lot of difficulties around those initiatives were to get those who would benefit from the initiatives to the table to weigh in, and provide helpful input so the Commission could know what was being missed. – One of those initiatives could be remote access and the ability for the public to call into meetings, so she encouraged the public and members of the Commission where there may be items along those lines and someone knows of anyone who has those concerns to bring that to the Commission’s attention. Commissioner Sommer said that the hardest part is to put yourself in everyone’s shoes to address different concerns and though the Commission may not be able to do all things all the time, having the input would be helpful and encourages further discussion and consideration of any other perspectives.

Secretary Harris said thanked the Commission for the discussion, and said that the Department would continue to work on the goals of the Racial Equity Plan.

There was no public comment.

7. Commissioner’s Comments and Questions.

- a. Inquiries to Staff. At this time, Commissioners may make inquiries to staff regarding various documents, policies, practices, and procedures, which are of interest to the Commission.

There were no inquiries from the Commission to staff.

- b. Future Meetings/Agendas. At this time, the Commission may discuss and take action to set the date of a Special Meeting and/or determine those items that could be placed on the agenda of the next meeting and other future meetings of the Building Inspection Commission.

Secretary Harris announced the next Regular Meeting of the Building Inspection Commission would be on June 15, 2022.

Commissioner Sommer said she had been joining the Code Advisory Committee (CAC) meetings recently, and since she had joined the Commission to listen to their discussions and see what they were doing. The meetings have been interesting and helpful and in their last meeting they had a two-page list of items that were discussed, had opinions about or enacted and she suggested bringing the list to the Building Inspection Commission. Commissioner Sommer thought it was a good idea, especially because there were new Commissioners and last year the BIC had a summary of what the Commission’s subcommittees do and that would be a good idea to do so again. She requested this as a future agenda item, whether it is having a representative from each subcommittee or having a summarized list shared.

Commissioner Alexander-Tut said she wanted to discuss having a policy to provide a comprehensive list of City resources when it is found that over permitting issues, especially that affect tenants. She would like to have a policy that the Department provide those resources at the earliest possible moments to homeowners to access resources if they are eligible and have the best information to cure violations.

Secretary Harris said to email or call her with any items that the Commissioners would want to have on future agendas.

There was no public comment.
